YOUR PARENTING PLAN

IF YOUR CASE INVOLVES MINOR CHILDREN,
A PARENTING PLAN IS REQUIRED BY STATUTE

When is a Parenting Plan required?

Pursuant to Chapter 61 of the Florida Statutes, a Parenting Plan is required in all cases involving time-sharing with minor children, even when time-sharing is not in dispute.

What issues are covered in the Parenting Plan?

The Parenting Plan shall contain a time-sharing schedule and should address the issues regarding the child's education, health care, and physical, social and emotional well-being.

What is a time-sharing schedule?

A timetable that must be included in the Parenting Plan that specifies the time, including overnights and holidays, that a minor child will spend with each parent. If developed and agreed to by the parties, it must be approved by the court. If the parents cannot agree, the schedule shall be established by the court.

Where can I find a Parenting Plan form?

- You may purchase a Parenting Plan form from the Clerk of Court; OR
- You may download the form at www.flcourts.org under self-help/forms

Parenting Plan, Form 12.995(a)

Supervised/Safety Focused Parenting Plan, Form 12.995(b)

Relocation/Long Distance Parenting Plan, Form 12.995 (c)

What if the other party will not cooperate in preparing a Parenting Plan?

- You may complete and submit a proposed Parenting Plan of your own even if the other party does not agree. The Court will review and consider your proposed Parenting Plan, as well as the other party's proposed Plan, if any, and make decisions with regard to the specific areas of conflict.

Do I have to complete the whole form?

At a minimum, the Parenting Plan must describe in adequate detail:

- How the parties will share and be responsible for the daily tasks associated with the upbringing of the children;
- The time-sharing schedule arrangements that specify the time that the minor children will spend with each parent;
- A designation of who will be responsible for any and all forms of health care, school-related matters, other activities; and
- The methods and technologies that the parents will use to communicate with the children.
